Foreword by Kona:

Since 2014, I have repeatedly come across reports about these techniques of terror. These include not only individual radiation treatments of people with special abilities, knowledge, defectors, or those with "psychic gifts" such as clairvoyance, hearing, channeling, or healing, but also mass radiation treatments.

The natural frequencies are technically overlaid to keep us trapped in this matrix like in a labyrinth.

What can be done...?

Tune in to the frequency of love and you will receive blessings.

Music, dancing, laughter, joy – all these and other activities can protect you, but also lift you up.

Stay on the right frequency of love and the heart.

The Association Against the Misuse of Radiation Weapons has been reporting since 2006 on secret crimes experienced by many innocent people in Germany and Europe.

A wealth of evidence demonstrably proves the long-standing, covert use of electromagnetic radiation weapons against peaceful citizens. Those affected and their families are forced to live under conditions of psychophysical and insidious terror, even though they are innocent citizens and have never broken any law.

They penetrate walls and thick concrete, hitting their victims with pinpoint accuracy, injuring internal organs, causing paralysis, heart attacks, or even cancer. Many sufferers sustain bruises, skin injuries, or experience seizures. Radiation also affects a person's DNA and cell structure. Some are forced into early retirement by the constant torture of radiation.

Electromagnetic weapons pose a terrible danger to the population of every nation and the entire world. They can be used to murder people who are inconvenient or politically active. Economic interests also play a significant role: intellectual property theft, inheritance disputes, and real estate theft.

With directed-energy weapons, citizens' homes are turned into torture chambers. Attempts are made to discredit them; they lose their livelihoods, including jobs, families, and friends, because those affected are later considered mentally ill and appear untrustworthy.

In Russia, scientists campaigned for the legal system to include these weapons. Since the publication of Article 7 of the Russian Weapons Law in the Russian newspaper "Pravda" in 2001, the trade, possession, and use of directed-energy weapons have been prohibited in Russia. The efforts of Russian scientists led to the conclusion that adapting the law to this weapon, which is based on the biological effects of very weak, pulsed electromagnetic fields, could be extremely dangerous and even deadly.

Electromagnetic directed-energy weapons can affect the body and mind, altering people's thoughts, feelings, and behavior. This effect is achieved through radiation from weak and high-frequency pulsed electromagnetic fields, as well as through acoustic ultrasound and infrared waves. This description is contained in the document on the Russian weapons law of 2001 and was written by the Russian scientists Lopatin and Gurov.

After the candid interview with Boris Ratnikov, the former Major General of the Committee for State Security, any doubt about the existence of these weapons disappeared. His interview was published in numerous newspapers both in Russia and abroad.

The basis of directed-energy weapons lies in the destructive properties of electromagnetic, acoustic, and torsional radiation. Domestic methods of eliminating people are most commonly used because they leave no trace or evidence.

At the seminar "Russia and the European Convention on Human Rights," technical scientist Yelena Blinnikova-Vyazemskaya presented her analysis of information received by the Information Center for Human Rights from 94 cities in the Russian Federation. This information concerns the use of radiation that damages the human mind and body. The list includes biogenerators, laser beams, ultrasound, X-rays, very high-frequency wavelengths of radio and ultrasound in the millimeter and submillimeter range, infrared, ultraviolet, isotopes, gamma rays, and other radiation used in weapons technology.

Russian scientist Vladimir Anisimov classifies directed-energy weapons as so-called "non-lethal weapons." Their invisible components can kill at a distance, cause or induce any chronic illness, turn people into criminals or render them mentally incompetent, cause people to fall or stumble, bring about air, rail, or car disasters in a matter of seconds, destroy solid structures or cause any climate disaster, and damage mechanisms and complex equipment.

Even at rest, directed-energy weapons can induce vital forces that damage the psyche, impair the coordination of movement and muscle tone, and alter the functions of various bodily systems; they can also cause diseases of the cardiovascular system and the visual system. They can control people, manipulate any biological object, and change the worldview of the population.

The artificial creation of a slave race with predetermined characteristics has become possible. Psychologists have been conducting experiments investigating the effects of electromagnetic radiation on the human brain and the programming of humans.

On October 3, 1995, then-US President Clinton had to apologize to the senators. In his speech, he confirmed that the experiments had indeed been conducted on thousands of American and European citizens.

Its purpose was to study the effects of electromagnetic radiation on the human body. He apologized to the victims and their relatives. Unfortunately, the murderous experiments on citizens of the USA and Europe did not stop afterward. On the contrary, they were kept even more secret. This is despite the fact that the USA has had a law banning electromagnetic radiation weapons since 2004 (in the states of Michigan and Massachusetts).

The most powerful technologies are now not only in the arsenals of the military forces in the USA, Great Britain, Germany, and France, but are also being used by transnational corporations to resolve their private affairs. The CIA began research on living subjects immediately after the war with the help of German scientists under the code name "Artichoke."

Due to the possibility of individual identification (statement by Dr. Michael Persinger), it is possible to conduct research on individuals via radio without their knowledge. (Statement by Carl Clark, who was involved in these experimental projects on behalf of the CIA, Mossad, and MI5, on May 11, 2009, in Ettlingen, Germany, at the press conference of the Association Against the Misuse of Directed-Range Weapons.)

Another Russian scientific professor and victim, Wassily Lensky, reports that, quote: "Anyone can be constantly monitored by the secret services and processed according to the described scheme." Simply because they were placed on the extermination list without any reason.

The professor is intimately familiar with the programs and the instructions for the intelligence services. The methods employed include chemical aerosols, bacteria, viruses, and electromagnetic radiation. These three methods are meticulously planned and combined for use on the population.

A vast, sprawling network was organized to ensure the ongoing torture of the victims. Many victims, who are physically and psychologically abused, wish for immediate death instead of the constant torture. When the victims are murdered, the doctors almost always give the same diagnosis: heart failure.

Therefore, only an independent commission can make the correct diagnosis. Crimes against humanity are being carried out on a massive scale and in every country in the world. It is incomprehensible that elderly people, pregnant women, and children are being included in these experiments. The children, along with their parents, are suffering severe health damage from the radiation.

In 1993, my family and I came to Germany from Russia to live a normal, happy life. Immediately after our arrival, we were constantly stalked, terrorized, and tortured by unknown perpetrators. They have also repeatedly attempted to kill us and our children through staged car accidents and other dangerous situations. My husband and my aunt were murdered with directed-energy weapons in Germany two years ago.

Dr. Rauni Leena Kilde also fell victim to these criminals who developed directed-energy weapons. No one could have foreseen that this would develop into a "project" like Mengele's. Dr. Kilde served on the board of our association for several years. This "Grande Dame," as she was known, was very popular due to her warm and positive demeanor. She shared much humanity, experience, and knowledge with us through her helpful and thoughtful nature. We are deeply grateful to her for this. Once again, a life has been senselessly ended by radiation torture. Dr. Rauni Leena Kilde published several books, videos, and other articles, and gave lectures in various countries on this topic of radiation terror. We, all those affected, are deeply saddened by her violent death.

We are now aware of over 2,000 victims in Germany. Numerous criminal complaints and charges have already been filed with police departments and public prosecutors. With considerable personal commitment and hard work, we are educating people in Germany and many other European countries about these technologies and their criminal use. Hundreds of people in Germany and Europe are calling for an international investigation into this egregious human rights violation, which has been taking place covertly worldwide for many years.

The intelligence services, along with organized crime and perhaps also cults, bear responsibility for these crimes and for the terror. This fact is confirmed by many Russian, German, and international scholars and authors of books who report on and write about this monstrous crime. Such barbarity is unprecedented in the history of humankind!

We must subject mass shootings to a more comprehensive investigation in light of the new "clean weapons" of the modern Holocaust of the 21st century. Only in this way can we clarify events such as those in Erfurt, Winnenden, in America, in the Belgian kindergarten, and the recent plane crash in France.

This new form of genocide must not be tolerated any longer. Across Europe, there are victims who, like the German victims, are being tormented, tortured, and killed. We have received numerous victim accounts from neighboring countries.

In most media outlets, this criminal, law-bending aspect of the continued violation of the constitution by state bodies was hardly noticed.

Multiple German and European petitions regarding these fundamental rights violations in Germany and Europe have so far been unsuccessful. The general rules of international law and the UN human rights conventions are being grossly violated.

This confirms the suspicion that in the Federal Republic of Germany, the most extreme enemies of the constitution are deliberately working against the population, possibly to lead us to a different republic???

According to Edward Snowden's statement from 2014, unimaginable dimensions of intelligence surveillance and control have now become known.

Dr. Katherine Horton, particle physicist and founder of this site, was targeted by MI5 in 2011 when she attended a court in London.

She was traded to the amusement and giggles of British agents and later to the German secret service, which, in conjunction with British intelligence, launched a program of sadistic microwave weapon attacks against her. She has been part of this destruction program ever since.

She followed her to Switzerland in 2015, where the attacks against her exploded into a nonstop barrage of mutilations. Her entire family and friends were also attacked, some fatally.

In 2016, she attempted to obtain an injunction from the London High Court against the instigators of her abuse, the British intelligence services. Her legal case, Dr. Katherine Horton v. SIS, MI5, GCHQ (Court reference [2016] EWHC 2095 QB), was severely sabotaged by the British intelligence services.

MI5 shot her in the head with microwave guns after her initial hearing, made a death threat, and three days later attempted to murder her in Switzerland. They continued their brutal and debilitating attacks until Judge Holgate closed her case despite the insane assaults. Later, the mutilation became even more psychopathic.

Dr. Horton sought help from human rights charities, the Swiss, British, and German police, the Swiss criminal police, the Swiss military police, the Federal Criminal Police Office, the Swiss and British chief prosecutors, the UK Investigatory Powers Tribunal, MI5 and the BND, and the German ambassador to Switzerland. When no one was willing to help, she began to investigate herself.

After finding hundreds of reports of victims, she realized that the police, judiciary, and intelligence services were knowingly complicit in a global Nazi extermination program that uses directed energy weapons to commit a silent genocide.

She is now working with a group of top whistleblowers and investigators to stop these crimes against humanity, which are becoming more insane every day. Please support her in stopping the Nazi takeover of our countries!

All donations go towards preventing her mutilation and murder by the intelligence services and ensuring her survival so she can help others. Donations and their use are published below each month.

There are better recordings of the pulsed energy projectiles that fire my electromagnetic machine guns, see for example:

Video: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4qtB149FGms [https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4qtB149FGms]

These impacts are audible when they bounce off metal surfaces and metal foils. They can be visualized when they are strong enough to indent metal foil. They can also be measured with the EMFields Acousticom 2 when they pass directly through the detector. However, the impacts have a diameter between millimeters and centimeters, so they must hit the detector precisely in the center to be recorded.

When these shots hit the human body, they damage tissue and organs, and shatter bones into small pieces. Dr. Millicent Black, Dr. Horton's colleague on the Joint Investigation Team, had her bone marrow completely ground to dust by Air Force veteran Randall Webster, who has used her since the death of his personal torture slave in the 1990s, through gunshot wounds (visible on X-rays) and the training of death squads in Columbia, Tennessee, using her body as a target practice tool.

These death squads are part of the UN genocide program in Europe and the USA, known as the UN Agenda 21 depopulation program. The true aim of this extermination program is for the global criminal cartel to eliminate countries, primarily to seize the money of wealthy individuals in each nation. While the torture and mutilation program is developed and implemented with the help of immigrants, such as the German national of Hungarian descent, Dr. Horton, in Switzerland, the primary targets of the Swiss death squads operated by Intel (NDB) are the wealthy Swiss themselves.

About 50% of the shots scatter off the walls of the house, leaving the attackers and the entire neighborhood littered with bullet holes.

Shots fired at Dr. Katherine Horton by her neighbors are not only audible but also visible at 0:19, where a hard blow dents her shielding on her left shoulder!!!

Dr. Katherine Horton demonstrates that the shots from the military microwave weapons are so intense that the metal shielding can be heard firing. When the attacks become particularly severe at night, it sounds like raindrops hitting the shielding under which Dr. Horton must lie in bed. All of her colleagues from the Joint Investigation Team hear the same effect at night: Karen Melton-Stewart (former NSA), Ramola D (journalist), Melanie Vritschan (ICATOR), and Dr. Millicent Black (pastor and domestic violence expert).

The Joint Investigation Team investigates crimes committed by intelligence agencies that go on a rampage, maiming people to death in their own homes around the world, including Europe and the USA.
