I am here to testify my experience of being a "targeted individual". While it is possible that my forced participation in this program may have started in 1990s, the most obvious targeted individual related symptoms(that I experience) began around 2000.

In the early 2000s, I developed sudden onset of loud tinnitus which has never stopped since it began. According to literature, it describes that tinnitus can develop from strong anxiety or from hearing loss. Tinnitus caused by anxiety may still be possible however, my tinnitus is continuous regardless of how relaxed I am, therefore, it is unlikely that my tinnitus is solely caused by anxiety. Also, for over 25 years, I had not developed any hearing problems ruling out my tinnitus caused by hearing issues.

On the other hand, it is described that tinnitus can develop when a person's brain is continuously bombarded with electromagnetic waves/attacks. Along with extremely loud unending tinnitus, I have and continue to experience electrical prick sensations and burns on my body every day as well as continuous vibrations all over my body when sleeping(which feels like mild electric shocks on continuous basis at night). These electromagnetic attacks leave me feeling extremely tired and unrested even after getting long hours of sleep. After years of such experience, I have developed chronic arthritic-like pain all over my body.

In addition, these continuous electric shock like vibrations not only effect my entire body but periodically I also experience these vibrations that are targeted to my vaginal and anal cavities(which feel like electronic rape).

Attached are photo and video evidence that I had accumulated during my earlier years of these attacks.

1) I placed mylar sheets over certain walls in my home where I feel the electromagnetic effects the most. After few months, I found that the mylar sheets that covered these walls had melted round holes in them. As you can see from the photos, the holes are very sharp round melted shapes and would not develop from the foil being rubbed off or dur to aging. Because the first sheet had so many holes in them, I had replaced it with a new mylar sheet over the same wall and after a certain period of time, this second mylar sheet also developed the same melted hole marks.

As none of my family or I come near or touch the mylar sheet on this wall, the only conclusion that I can come to is that they appear like laser marks.

2) Enclosed are some photos of burn marks that I had developed just after suffering from severe piercing pain on my body. I would periodically develop extremely sharp pin needle type pain on my body and these marks would develop. As you can see in the photos, they all look like burn marks.

3) About 12 years ago, I developed severe ovarian cyst and colon infection and was hospitalized for about 1 week. After recovery, gradually, I had noticed that certain areas of my body had become especially sensitive to EMF waves/attacks. Attached are photos which show possible connection of the anomalies on my body and EMF sensitivies.

The first set of photos show my right chest area where there is an unusual bone protrusion(just under my right collar bone). This protrusion developed gradually after I returned home from the hospital. You can also see a very strong noticeable vein that runs from my throat area to my right chest area(where the bone protrudes).

Targeted Justice Organization recommended that all targeted individuals use megaphone to test and detect possible EMF chip implants. Enclosed is a video where I show that placing the megaphone over my chest area(where the unusual bone protrusion is) causes the megaphone sound to alarm. I had placed this megaphone in other areas of my body where I obtain no sound but the megaphone alarms consistently when placed over this area of my chest. The megaphone alarm also sounds when I place it near my vaginal area as well as several other areas of my body. I wish to make clear that I am aware that many people who had receive the Covid vaccine may also detect these emf sensitivies(using their megaphone) in their bodies. However, I had never received the covid vaccine shot and these anomalies were detected years before the coronavirus pandemic.

4) My experience of EMF exposure seems to differ from other people who are just highly sensitive to EMF effects. For the last several years, I have been sleeping on a portable metal sleeping cot(which allows me to periodically sleep in different areas of my house. Randomly sleeping in different locations of my home seems to descrease the EMF effects during the night possibly because it is difficult for the perpetrators to predict where I would be sleeping each night). Nevertheles, every night, I had and continue to experience low vibrations of energy running through my body as well as continuous pinlike piercing sensations throughout my body while asleep. Such chronic EMF effects at night have caused a decline in my health. I had initially thought that perhaps my metal cot was absorbing EMF waves from the electronic devices(such as router, computer, TV, etc.) in my room and my cot's absorption of excessive radiation was causing the continuous mild electric shock like experiences at night. Therefore, one day, I replaced my metal cot with a portable wooden bed frame(which contained absolutely no metal) expecting that the EMF effects on my body would reduce because my wooden bed would not have the capability of absorbing radiation(from the devices in my room). However, the first night I slept on my wooden bed, my EMF experience increased dramatically causing unbearable pain. It appears that when I slept on my wooden bed, my body was directly experiencing the EMF effects and the assaults would remain in my body causing severe pain throughout the night. In other words, when I was sleeping on a metal cot, EMF waves that were directed to my body seem to have been absorbed by the metal frames and the metal frame actually helped to alleviate some of the pain when I was being hit with EMF waves. On the other hand, when I was sleeping on the wooden bed, EMF assaults would remain in my body because wood does not absorb EMF waves.
5) While I have been suffering from these EMF like experiences for decades, I am presently no longer too much bothered by these attacks/experiences on a physical level. Instead, the most torturous experience that I had suffered and continue to experience on daily basis are what I believe are "psychotronic attacks". I do not directly experience V2K but have since the beginning of this targeted experiences had psychotronic attack type experiences where unusual thoughts would continuously bombard my mind on a continuous bases. I can generally differentiate psychotronic attacks from my own inner negative thoughts because with my own inner negative thoughts, they remain with me wherever I go(because they most likely develop from my subconscious). On the other hand, when I experience psychotronic attacks, the negative mood, thoughts and energy in general immediately disappear as soon as I physically move to another location(even moving about 1 foot from the space where I was suffering from negativity makes the negative thoughts, moood and energy disappear instantly). I have no other explanation for all of my anomalous experiences than that they fit the exact symptoms of "targeted individuals".

As a result of years of psychotronic attacks, I have developed extreme PTSD and anxiety disorder because of the continuous unending trauma that I have and continue to experience.
