Greetings HHS Department,

Thank you for accepting public comments on EMF/RF toxicity.

In 2015, I added a 30 panel solar array to my home (15 panels on the roof and 15 on the ground).

Not long afterwards, I began to experience constant ringing in my ears and a burning sensation in my spinal column. There were nights when I'd wake with such intense burning pain in my nerves that I would cry. This went on for years.

To remedy the effects I was experiencing, I had amalgam fillings removed and did a "dirty electricity" remediation in my home - adding filters near the electric breaker panel and silver cages over the meters to lessen the amount and impact of excess electricity dumped from the solar system into the wires of my home. That did mostly relieve the nerve burning, but to this day, the tinnitus is constant. I believe the two are directly connected.

Thank you for attending to this important matter.
