State: Georgia
Name: Elaine MacGonigle

Occupation: Hello, my name is Elaine MacGonigle. I was a housing inspector; I worked for several companies and was sent all over South Georgia and North Florida. I took pictures and did measurements, and did interviews. I really liked that type of work and was seriously thinking about getting my Real Estate license, but it seemed each day I was getting more ill.

Wireless Health Effects: Ever since the smart meter was installed on my house, my health has gone downhill. I am sensitive to EMFs and have been since I was young. I passed out in a store when I was eighteen while walking down an isle of T.V.s that were turned on at the same time. Since the smart meter installation my symptoms include tinnitus or swirling and a rushing sound in my ears that goes away when I leave the house. In the past I only got headaches when I ate ice cream, but now I have off and on headaches and I have to take more than prescribed over the counter medication and nap to get rid of them. I feel off most of the time and I get dizzy a lot. Since the smart meter I haven't slept an entire eight-hour night, and I'm always fatigued, weak and irritable. I have a very hard time trying to concentrate and focus and I forget my friend's names sometimes. My memory is always ten steps behind me and if I don't write down what I need or want immediately the thought is gone. I've been getting skin rashes and sores and my skin itches. I'm also nauseous, and not being able to vomit makes living a nightmare.
I only feel better when I'm outside of my house. I have a hard time going shopping, because I get so exhausted quickly and have to go home. But as soon as I come home all the illness starts over. Not to mention that I have two ten-year old cats that are brothers that used to be indoor cats and would never go out, but now they refuse to stay in and have become outdoor cats.

Wireless technology has affected my life: EMF, or dirty electricity hurt my life in many ways. After the smart meter was installed on my house, I noticed I was forgetting simple things like leaving a pot cooking on the stove. Several times I left my car door open when getting out and went in the house to lie down. I get mad at myself because when I leave the house, I have to return several times because I forget the things, I need to take with me like my keys. It is a triple start just to leave the house every day. I hate being so forgetful and I spend a lot of money on brain foods, which help somewhat. When I cannot remember people's names and faces, I try to avoid anywhere that I might be recognized.

Concerns for 5G: Well, you can tell something is not right with people today with all the insanity going on in the world. What do you think will happen once these high-powered cell antennas are in place? Certainly, the cancer rate will climb, and homicides and suicides will climb to unbelievable rates. Politicians won't get involved until they start seeing their children going off the deep end. I'm sure it will have a deep impact on the environment such as killing the birds and bees. I can't think of anything else to say except GOD please help us.

Sincerely,
Elaine MacGonigle
