Autumn Chittum-Vestal INDIANA

June 2017

My name is Autumn Chittum-Vestal, and I'm a full time, work from home mom to my son, Lyle.

Wireless Health Effects: I'm sensitive to EMF's as well.

Anytime I use my cell phone for a prolonged period of time I have hot, tingly hands, visual disturbances, dizziness and nausea. I can only speak to what I can visually see regarding symptoms with my son, but who know what else he experiences given my symptom list.

Wireless technology has affected my life: I have several autoimmune disorders diagnosed along with Lyme disease, and let me just note that being a young mom with chronic illness is no walk in the park. Added to that my son, age 3 1/2, is immune-deficient along with severe food allergies. As you can imagine, I take our health very seriously, which encompasses ALL health: good doctors, clean food, and a healthy environment. I've done my research on smart meters, and I inherently opposed one being attached to my house. We don't have a microwave or cordless phone. I have a tethered Internet that I turn on only when needed, and cell phones that are on airplane mode or turned off when not in use. I felt like I was doing enough until I noticed my son's hyperactivity & aggressiveness in all doctors' offices. His specialist mentioned the EMFs in the office and speculated sensitivity to EMFs. I contacted Greenfield Utility's to see about removing our smart meter, and I got the run around about older employees, a consolidated staff, analogs are tough to get to, fences are annoying, pets- all I'm thinking about is our HEALTH. There are studies that show the effects on our health. Meters are reading high watts of radiation being emitted. These high-powered smart meters are sending out 24 pulses a day to satellites- we are getting routinely bombarded with radiation that we cannot escape. Greenfield Utilities wouldn't allow an analog meter without steep upfront costs AND pricey reoccurring costs added to my monthly bill IF they even decided to allow me to have one- which was highly discouraged (they say there are only 3 left in the city). The smart meter is located just outside my son's bedroom where he cannot stay asleep. He currently sleeps in our room giving us more distance from the meter and better, quality sleep. I can see the difference in my son's behavior and sleep patterns. Our immune systems do not need any additional damage than what we're already dealing with.

Concerns about the future: I oppose any mandate that violates our health, end of story. Where there's risk there should be choice. My family needs a choice. Other families in our situation (a growing number unfortunately) need a choice. The risk is only going to grow from here. Please oppose this mandate. Thank you for taking the time to consider this.

With Warm Regards,
