To which wireless device do you attribute your condition?
Cell phone, cell tower/antenna, Wi-Fi

What symptoms do you experience when you are exposed to radiation? Headache, random pins and needles feeling on the skin, often on the forehead, brain fog the next day with lower level of energy.

How has becoming injured by wireless affected your life? (Your family, living situation, education, job and finance). At work I ask meeting participants to turn off their wifi radios on their laptops. In the car I ask that passengers (usually the teenagers) go to airplane mode. Using a Coronet meter, I will inspect new spaces to find the lowest levels of radiation. This newest discipline is the most fascinating to me. One side of my hotel room has 10x the radiation of the other side.

How has becoming injured by wireless affected your ability to function in society? The other night my wife and I were asked out to dinner. The place was new to us, out in the suburbs. It was a beautiful evening. We were out on the patio savoring my favorite month of the year. Then I started to feel the buzz. A quick scan revealed a tower not even 150 feet from where we sat. Not wanting to just leave our friends high and dry and explain the reasons, I ordered a stiff drink to dull the pain and slugged through it. Can't go back there again.

How did you make the connection between the symptoms you were experiencing and the wireless radiation? It started with the cell phone next to my ear. My ear would get hot and a headache would soon follow. Education played a key role. Many have done some great work helping to understand this complex beast of a problem.

Do you have a wireless utility meter or Smart meter? No

What else would you like to tell the public and public officials? Support efforts to designate a radiation free space. There is now a bar in the UK with a faraday cage! Provide a means for people to experience for themselves just how good it feels to just sit be calm, be grounded, and enjoy our world as it originally was created.

Additional Comments: My whole life I've been a solution guy. Don't complain, figure out a way. But this one is a quandary. The unaffected demand the connectivity. Humans usually learn only through suffering. I see a lot of suffering coming. Although unfortunate, it is the process demanded by the more stubborn elements of our nature. We realize how rich the telecom lobby has become. Those with symptoms not yet linked to EMF sensitivity continue to suffer because this issue has become another unfortunate truth. But eventually, organizations will aggregate enough voices. I'm excited to see that day.

I show my kids, their friends, my friends, my extended family and their kids what exactly happens when you turn on a call phone, or turn on the wifi router, or PGS or whatever. They may not have symptoms but when they do, they will link it faster to the real root cause.
