

My wife and I live in Brooklyn New York, we purchased our semi attached 1910 home in 2003 I worked tirelessly to restore our house by myself since I am no stranger to fixing painting etc. Though I have been aware of microwave radiation going back to the 1980's I was stunned to learn the water meter in our basement gave off microwaves.

Approximately two years ago I noticed symptoms, every morning approx. 5 am my wife and I get out of bed and cook our breakfasts approx. 6 am she leaves for work then I would sit in my favorite chair watching the sunrise in our living-room, the house faces east.

On a regular basis i would find myself waking up from sleeping in the chair, I tried listening to music and reading but still found myself sleeping, one day it dawned on me the smart-meter is just below the floor about five feet from where I sat.

Over time I started having tinnitus and multiple other symptoms, fast forward there is a microwave repeater about twenty-five feet from our kitchen window at eye level, daily the microwaves vary in intensity and my kitchen is hell, at certain hours I find it hard to stand by the sink to wash dishes the intense feelings in my head body effects from neck down like the worst tingling and sharp stabs in my legs and ankles.

We do not have any wireless items like phones or routers in our home but I found that within one to three blocks from our home in every direction I counted many towers with about seventy microwave repeaters, some on highrise buildings others low as the first floor above a store, no matter where I go in our house the basement bedroom or attic I am bombarded with different frequencies.

My wife Sue had a car accident and a fall at work years ago so she goes for physical therapy, so far she has few minor symptoms and I hope it stays that way.

I am 67 semi retired ride a bicycle everywhere, we no longer have a microwave oven and I stopped carrying my smartphone on me, if I go to the city the phone is in a microwave safe pouch I made other times its about a foot from me on a table.

I live a life of unimaginable pain and terror, most morning just after getting out of bed i must put cold water on the top of my head and neck as it feels very hot like i had been sitting in the sun, just being in our kitchen the bodily feeling headaches, shocks when not touching anything, hot pain burning in my chest at the solar plexus, intense anxiety etc.

On cloudy days that rain was predicted its much more intense in the house as well as outside, if you can imagine being tortured well thats my life.

I do what i can to avoid places outside my house that give me that intense dread from microwaves, cell-towers water meters etc.

Cancer will be one of the many ways people are and will die from the accumulative effects of all microwaves especially 5G.

My wife and i would move if there were a safe place, but i do not believe there will be such a place as the world rushes to Deploy 5g everywhere in the rush for profits without the research or thought about how dangerous 5g is to any form of life and all existing things such as buildings and infrastructure, the research is clearly available online from the military on down to accredited researchers.

The blind see clearly what those with 20/20 sight refuse to see.

Over the last approx. two years I made it my duty to inform friends and strangers sending them youtubes of you and the many other great doctors researchers and others who speak out on the subject, few listen which leads me to see how trained and misguided the masses are, some are slowly coming around but still carry their phones like a gold coin.

I have not contacted New York water officials yet as I was hoping the opt out would happen, I am aware of the electric and gas opt outs in our area and as a last resort will file them till then its a waiting game.
