TORITO'S ELECTRODIVERGENT MANIFESTO

A mentally disturbed person is defined as
"eccentric" if they are rich,
but as "crazy" if they are poor.
Such is the anatomy of slavespeak.
Similarly, the all-powerful telecom industry,
in collusion with doctors and politicians
on the dark side of the Force,
wants to slap the EHS label on us.
It's a way to blame and silence the victims of electromagnetic pollution.
But here's the truth, friends:
We are not electro*HYPER*sensitive.
They are the ones with the deficiency.
They are electro*HYPO*sensitive.
We have developed a biological radar that detects the invisible poison they sell us as progress.
That sixth sense can protect us from cancer, leukemia, and other chronic diseases of the 21st century, while the "normal" people get fried, happily scrolling their way to the grave.
They want to brand us as lunatics and conspiracy theorists, but we are wide awake.
Hold your head high and stand tall, friends, because we are empowered.

We are ELECTRODIVERGENT

This is the way!
